

I'LL BE SMILING

Well the heartaches had me askin if my lady-luck had flown till I saw you smile and I fell, in style, in a way that I've never known and after all the lessons Lord I know when I fell for you that if I ever lose this love I'll learn to lose.

Cos I'll wake smiling in the morning (I'll be smiling)
I'll sleep smiling with your kiss goodnight (Kiss goodnight)
Always smiling with that thought that's burning
of the moment when I have you by my side.

If in the end, if I didn't lose much more than a good night's sleep with all the girls that I ever knew and were always hard to keep even times I've known they've left me sittin sad and blue well If I ever lose this love I'll learn to lose.

Cos I'll wake smiling in the morning (I'll be smiling)
I'll sleep smiling with your kiss goodnight (Kiss goodnight)
Always smiling with that thought that's burning
of the moment when I have you by my side

Well it ain't no joke when you stand half broke and you're not what your woman wants

For I'm not much more than a pocket of smoke and a hat full of honky tonk

so I guess it's time to change my ways, in ways that I never knew cos if I ever lose this love I'll learn to lose.

Cos I'll wake smiling in the morning (I'll be smiling)

I'll sleep smiling with your kiss goodnight (Kiss goodnight)

Always smiling with that thought that's burning
of the moment when I have you by my side.

© Gina Paola Ritch 2013